Stay Competitive in a Changing Scientific World

Gain free access into the ACS National Exposition in Boston, MA, FREE OF CHARGE (a $35 savings), compliments of this exhibiting company. The ACS National Exposition will be held at Boston Convention & Exhibition Center (BCEC), Halls A & B1, on August 20-22, 2007, during the ACS National Meeting.

Connect with 250+ companies and service providers who can help you improve your R&D, business, and laboratory operations in the chemical and allied industries. Conduct months' worth of product and market research in just three days in one location. For more information about the meeting, visit: <http://chemistry.org/meetings/boston2007>.

- ◆ Learn about new scientific technologies and tools in instruments, publications, scientific software and hardware, analytical services, and a wide array of chromatographic, laboratory and safety equipment.
- ◆ Make face-to-face contacts you will rely on all year-long. Strengthen your relationships with suppliers, colleagues, and potential partners.
- ◆ Network with over 12,000 chemistry professionals. Continue your hands-on technical learning on the ACS Exposition floor and in free exhibitor workshops.
